Introduction to Korkers

Korker Sausages is a family business with a story full of passion and determination to succeed. It all started in a small butcher's shop in the Kent village of Rolvenden in 1959, which has grown strength to strength with now being one of the best-known sausages in the artisan market.

Our sausages have been a family staple for over 66 years. This proves we have a time-tested and beloved recipe that has become synonymous with quality and taste. Few brands can claim such a rich history as Korkers. This history resonates with customers seeking reliability, tradition and authenticity. Whether it's our classic original sausages or our newer products, our commitment to using only premium ingredients ensures a consistent high-quality experience across the range. The long-standing trust in our original recipe extends to every new item we produce.
